

Senior Designer

HBG Health is a brand design firm driven to cultivate the brands that endeavor to change the health of the world. (www.thinkhbg.com) We are growing and looking for new talent to join our team.

Do you fit this picture?

Intelligent. Strategic. Creative. Collaborative. A leader. Unflinchingly bold. We like people who are willing to take a stand, to challenge the status quo, to shake things up a bit. Someone who knows their own potential and refuses to stagnate. Someone with a sense of humor.

At HBG Health, we're looking for a Senior Designer to create impact and break-through strategic solutions, a designer who has an intelligent design sense.

HBG Health is looking for an exceptionally talented, creative and driven individual who has what it takes to do incredible work in a fast-paced, high-energy environment.

Create compelling solutions for print, multimedia and electronic communications for blue chip companies -- including branding, advertising, collateral, websites, environmental graphics, online ads, direct mail, etc. -- Follows all design projects from conception to print to ensure the production of the highest quality. Researches and monitors design trends to sharpen skills, keep with current technology and software, and determine ways to enhance the company's image and designs from those of their competitors.

The right candidate will have a minimum of 7-10 years of proven experience in creating highly effective branding, advertising and print work, and be well-versed in applying strategic design concepts to the web. Candidate must be capable of strategic, creative and out-of-the-box thinking, be ready to collaborate and create innovative break-through solutions.

Position will start as a 3-month freelance contract, with the potential for full-time employment.

Requirements include:

- 7-10 years minimum design experience required
- Experience with InDesign, PhotoShop and Illustrator.
- Flash, HTML and Dreamweaver experience a plus
- Willingness to collaborate in a team environment
- Great attention to detail and ability to perform under pressure
- Typography skills a must
- Bachelor's degree in Design, Fine Arts or related field
- Ability to work independently, set priorities, and efficiently, accurately and productively handle multiple tasks
- Experience managing vendors and other subordinates

Local candidates only. No relocation. No phone calls please.
